

Some progress has been made with developing initial ideas for the aviation presence in the America's Cup NZ Inc activities being organised as part of the Challenger and Final series in San Francisco, from July to September 2013. We are looking at up to 7 aviation days and working with the marine sector on at least one of them. On the supply side, we are looking to profile some innovative and world class New Zealand aviation capabilities – different sectors on different days. On the demand side, we're identifying existing and potential customers. We'll soon come out with some very rough ideas and will welcome input from you to develop them.
