

Executive Summary

Andrew has been involved in softball all his life, beginning as a t-ball player in Southern Ontario, and now as a Level 6 umpire in NZ.

He began his involvement in softball as a player up until 2003, where he began umpiring at his local association (Center Wellington Minor Softball). From here, Andrew's transition from player to umpire started. By 2006 umpiring became his focus as he started to travel and umpire at other more competitive competitions. These exposures lead Andrew to eventually stop playing and focus on umpiring. In 2010 Andrew moved to NZ where he joined with the North Harbour Softball Umpires Association.

Outside of softball, Andrew is a semi-competitive Marathon and Ultra Distance runner who actively competes in events during the offseason of Softball. This training allows him to understand the athlete's mentality as well as keep up with the pace on the field

Currently Andrew is an active Level 6 umpire within the New Zealand Softball Umpire program with aspirations to continue to grow, develop and advance.
